

Confinement by Gabriella Murray

You should read this book confinement by Gabriella Murray because there is this girl named duffino, but the thing about her is that she doesn't speak. She doesn't try to defend herself and she refuses to speak, even though she is on murder trial. So because of her silence they send her to a mental hospital. At the hospital she meets another girl named Charlotte, she's been there for 15 years because she was accused of murdering someone in a convent(nuns). They never reopened her case because she was to young and she's been there for all of this time. One night she actually escaped the "prison" as she calls it. She was captured and then sent to confinement, the basement floor of the prison. They inject her with a serum that makes the person go to sleep. As they are sleeping they talk and hopefully confess. But the only thing is that Charlotte was only worried about duffino. People try to get their story because duffino only wants to speak to Charlotte, but Charlotte doesn't tell them because she wants to keep duffino's trust. So they keep each others secrets, but who really killed who? You'll have to read it to find out.
